

Logan Steiner
Official Bio

Logan is the USA Today bestselling author of AFTER ANNE (HarperCollins 2023). The novel tells the story of the complex, creative life of Anne of Green Gables author Lucy Maud Montgomery. Logan also writes a Substack newsletter called The Creative Sort, which explores the internal sort we go through when deciding whether and what to create.

After graduating from Pomona College and Harvard Law School, Logan clerked for three federal judges, spent six years in Big Law, and served for three years as an Assistant United States Attorney. She now specializes in brief writing at a boutique law firm. Logan lives in Denver with her husband, daughter, and the cranky old man of the house, a Russian Blue cat named Taggart.
